The Usdan Common Connections Committee is happy to invite you to two exciting events occurring this week in the Usdan Daniel Family Commons (third floor). Both events are free:

Critical Condition: A panel discussion focused on health care reform in the United States

March 24, 2010 7pm, Daniel Family Commons

A panel discussion focusing on the current efforts to reform the health care system in the United States. The panel will include policy experts and frontline personnel working to make Connecticut a model for the rest of the country to follow. The panel will be comprised of Damien Sheehan-Connor, Wesleyan faculty in economics, Jill Zorn, Program Officer at Universal Health Care Foundation of Connecticut, Dr. Michael Grey, Chief of Medicine at the Hospital of Central Connecticut, and Elizabeth Wiley, National Secretary, American Medical Student Association and Physicians for a National Health Program member and George Washington University School of Medicine student. The panel will cover a broad range of topics and will debate approaches and outcomes in the development of the legislation currently being considered. The panel will also take questions and will engage the audience throughout the evening. There will be a complimentary pizza dinner at the start of the program.

Stan Scott: Wesleyan World Music Instructor will perform Irish, Bengali and Original Music

March 25, 2010 7pm, Daniel Family Commons

Dr. Scott, who teaches guitar, banjo, mandolin, and North Indian vocal music in Wesleyan’s Music Department has performed in Ireland’s Willie Clancy Week and Clare Festival of Traditional Singing, Calcutta’s Rabindra Sadan, and Mumbai’s National Centre for the Performing Arts. This evening is sure to be enjoyable and will be topped off with an Irish themed reception.
