

Acknowledgements

The Editorial Board wishes to extend our sincere gratitude to the many individuals and groups who have helped in the creation of this inaugural volume of Mind Matters. The Wesleyan's Department of Psychology and its faculty and staff have provided indispensable assistance. Specifically, we wish to thank Professor Ruth Striegel-Moore, chairperson of the department, for her dedication to students, the department, and our Journal's mission. Professors Andrea Patalano and Steve Stemler have been helpful consultants and have provided us with the encouragement we so often needed. Conversations with Professors John Seamon, Scott Plous, and Namni Goel were also especially helpful in shaping our initial ideas for the Journal. In addition, Cathy Race, Joan Chiari, and Margaret Loomer have all helped guide us through parts of the process of creating a journal. Outside of the Psychology Department, we have received guidance and support from Manolis Kaparakis, Lisa Hendrix, the Wesleyan Student Assembly, and the Wesleyan Writing Program. The staff at Acme Bookbinding have also been helpful and patient. A big thank you to our friends and family whose patience, encouragement, and advice have kept us going.
