General Room Selection (February 2013-April 2013)

What is my role in General Room Selection (GRS)?
As a study abroad applicant, you are not eligible to participate in General Room Selection for the fall. You should stay in contact with Gail Winter so in the event that you decide not to study abroad, you are not removed from a program house/CBLV or a room selection night group by the Registrar’s Office. You must notify Gail Winter no later than March 27th that you are no longer going abroad to be able to participate in GRS or retain your Program House/CBLV bid.

What if I don’t hear from my program by March 27th?
We understand that the majority of students are ultimately accepted to their program and it is a very small percentage of students who will be declined by a program. The students who find out after March 27th will be assigned over the summer and asked to complete a Preference Form to help guide our assignments process.

If you contact Gail after March 27th indicating that you are not studying abroad, we will not be able to register you in GRS and you will be assigned over the summer

Fall 2013 (September 2013-January 2014)

Assignment Process
Students returning from study abroad and leave are assigned to the vacancies created when other students participate in study abroad or take a leave. We are notified of students leaving Wesleyan for the spring throughout the end of the fall semester to mid-January.

Point adjustments are not given to mid-year assignments

While we cannot run GRS mid-year since we are not sure of our vacancies in advance, students do have three options for assisting with their assignment process:
1. Preference Form
2. Pull-in Form
3. Program Housing

Preference Form
In early September, we will send an email via Gail Winter and post the link for the Preference Form.

- You will have until January to complete the form to give us your preferences for assignment.
- You can preference to live with someone who is also returning from abroad or leave, but we may not be able to assign you together or we might be able to assign you together, but not in your area of preference.
Pull-In Form
Pull-in Forms are available on our website and in the ResLife Office starting November 1st. Students living in Wesleyan housing that will have at least one vacancy can pull students returning from abroad into their unit. Pull-in forms are due the first week of December.

- If a current resident lives in a single-occupancy room in a residence hall, they cannot pull a student in since the unit would be completely open.
- Students also cannot be pulled into Program Housing/CBLV spaces since it is an application process.
- The pull-in form is completed by the student currently on campus and requires the signatures of the other students living in the unit.
- We will ask the student who is away and being pulled in to send us an email confirming they want to be assigned to the unit.
- If the unit is not vacant at the end of the fall semester, the pull-in will be void, and the returning student will be assigned over winter break.

Program Housing
We will have vacancies in program houses and study abroad students can participate in the application process. Gail will send emails out for our department notifying you of what houses are available, timeline, and how to apply. The bid process will occur mid-November – early December and students will know their status before finals begin.

Things to Remember
- If you need a housing consideration or to renew an existing consideration, please contact Disabilities Services as soon as possible so we have the documentation and a recommendation can be made to our office before assignments start in January.
- We can only use the spaces that become vacant for assignments and typically, we do not receive many completely open apartments
- Approved winter athletes returning from a leave will be notified of their assignment before ResLife closes for the holidays
- The only students returning early from study abroad we accommodate are winter athletes due to NCAA regulations, all other students will have to wait until the University reopens in mid to late January.
- Students are notified of their assignments via e-portfolio in mid-January
