Why I chose Wesleyan:

The moment I stepped onto campus, I knew Wesleyan was where I wanted to spend my next four years. The students here are kind, enthusiastic, and not only eager to learn but share their knowledge with others. The atmosphere of Wesleyan exudes creativity and a desire to learn that you can't find anywhere else. The open curriculum was a huge bonus for me as well!

Academic Interests: I am a Psychology and English double major with a concentration in creative writing and an African-American Studies minor. I hope to combine my academic interests into a career in entertainment, marketing, or advertising!

Favorite class(es) at Wes: Introduction to Sociology with Professor Courtney Patterson-Faye or Modern African American History with Professor Jesse Nasta.

Current Classes:

- Psychology and the Law
- Introduction to Economics
- Black Religions
- Beyond the Talking Book

Why I want to be a tour guide: There are so many aspects of Wesleyan that I love, and nothing makes me more excited than sharing what I love with people from different walks of life. Wesleyan is truly a special place that I now call home, and I am excited to share what makes Wesleyan so unique to me to other students and their families.

Outside the Classroom:

Extracurriculars:

Varsity Field Hockey,
Student-Athlete of Color
Leadership Council, Mindful Wes

Favorite Activity at Wes:

Lunch at Star & Crescent with friends

Favorite Moment at Wes:

Beating Tufts University in a field hockey game (but I have so many other favorite moments!)

Favorite Movie(s):

Hidden Figures,
Coco,
