

CENTER FOR THE ARTS

SPRING 2021 PERFORMING ARTS SERIES EXHIBITIONS ICPP EVENTS

Kristina Wong: Sweatshop Overlord

Thursday, February 18, 2021
at 8pm

“[Kristina Wong] built a massive free mask operation for people the ‘government didn’t care about.’”

—NBC News

Comedian and writer Kristina Wong details her trajectory from out-of-work performance artist to Sweatshop Overlord in this new show, followed by a moderated conversation with the artist.

Party in the Bardo: Conversations with Laurie Anderson

Thursdays: February 18 —
May 6, 2021 at 10pm

“The evening felt like a cross between story time and some kind of ritual.” —NPR Music

Wesleyan’s WESU Middletown 88.1FM will rebroadcast all episodes of the radio show “Party in the Bardo: Conversations with Laurie Anderson,” created and hosted by writer, director, visual artist, and vocalist Laurie Anderson and featured in Pitchfork.

Flames of My Homeland: The Cultural Revolution and Modern Tibet

Tuesday, February 23 through Thursday, April 1, 2021

In this exhibition, the works of Tsering Dorje and Tsering Woesser, father and daughter, document the ravages of Tibetan society brought by the Cultural Revolution and their ongoing effects in Lhasa today. Curated by Ian Boyden ’95, William Frucht, and Associate Professor of Religion and East Asian Studies Andrew Quintman.

Let ‘im Move You: This Is an Invitation

Thursday, February 25, 2021
at 8pm

This Is an Invitation, the latest video project in jumatatu m. poe and Jermone Donte Beacham’s “Let ‘im Move You” decade-spanning series of performance and installation projects, will be screened along with a lecture demonstration and a conversation between jumatatu m. poe and Jermone Donte Beacham moderated by Deborah Goffe MA ’19. This performance is part of the ICPP’s Performing Artist Case Studies, funded by the Doris Duke Charitable Foundation.

Wesleyan University

Center for the Arts Middletown, CT 860-685-3355 www.wesleyan.edu/cfa

Reserve your spot for these free spring events today!

YouTube Facebook Twitter Instagram @wescfa

CENTER FOR THE ARTS

SPRING 2021 PERFORMING ARTS SERIES EXHIBITIONS ICPP EVENTS

Baldwin and Buckley at Cambridge:

A Conversation about History and Process with Elevator Repair Service

Thursday, March 4, 2021 at 8pm

Actors Greig Sargeant and Ben Williams and director and Elevator Repair Service founder John Collins will discuss the development and process of creating their new theater work in progress Baldwin and Buckley at Cambridge. The discussion will be moderated by Assistant Professor of Theater Katie Pearl.

Feminist Rage and Healing: Movement Workshop with Ananya Chatterjea

Wednesday, March 10, 2021 at 8pm

“Ananya Chatterjea made it clear the performance was not just entertainment—it was a call to arms.”
—Minneapolis Star Tribune

In this movement workshop, Ananya Chatterjea, Artistic Director of the contemporary Indian dance company Ananya Dance Theatre in Minneapolis, will explore some of the emotional range of recent times.

A Conversation with Artist in Residence Miranda Haymon

Thursday, March 18, 2021 at 8pm

“Haymon is interested in inclusive, multi-voiced theatre that sparks dialogue.” —American Theatre

Writer, director, and curator Miranda Haymon '16 will discuss their artistic process, forging a theater career, and their radio play version of Pedro Pietri's "The Masses are Asses" (1974), which will be aired on WESU Middletown 88.1FM this spring.

A Body in Fukushima: Film and Performance

Friday, May 28, 2021 at 8:30pm

Eiko Otake, Visiting Artist in Residence in Dance, debuts a newly updated, 75 minute rendering of A Body in Fukushima, edited over the course of 2020 during her virtual creative residency at Wesleyan, and featuring hundreds of photographs taken by John E. Andrus Professor of History and Professor of East Asian Studies, Science in Society, and Environmental Studies William Johnston.

Wesleyan University

Center for the Arts Middletown, CT 860-685-3355 www.wesleyan.edu/cfa

Reserve your spot for these free spring events today!

YouTube Facebook Twitter Instagram @wescfa