

Collections Advisory Committee Records, 1997
Collection 1000-71
Preliminary Inventory

Documents collected by Michael Casey, University Relations Regional Alumni Director, while serving on the committee. The Wesleyan Collections Advisory Committee was a task force formed of faculty, administrators, and alumni/ae in the museum fields, who were charged to “oversee an in-depth review of Wesleyan’s collections of art and material culture...” The committee, along with several consultants, met several times in 1997, created overviews of existing collections, and submitted its final report on November 7, 1997.

Contents of the collection include meeting minutes, correspondence and working documents (including studies of the collections of the Davison Art Center, musical instruments, Freeman Center for East Asian Studies, and museum/ethnographic collections), and a copy of the final report.
