

Transfer students are assigned to one of the residential halls on campus using the preference sheet you filled out. Most transfer students will be housed in buildings with other transfer students that share their experience. If you have any questions or want more information, contact Residential Life by email at reslife@wesleyan.edu.

Every residence hall has a lounge, which typically has sofas, a TV, and other accessories depending on location. Butterfield B, for example, has a TV with Roku, vending machines, a foosball table, and a kitchen. Most lounges are arranged similarly. Bathrooms and hallways are cleaned throughout the week by custodial staff, but students are responsible for their own rooms.

The residence halls provide you with basic furniture (bed, desk, chair, dresser, shelving, and closet). But you will need to bring personal items like lamps and bed linens for your use. Certain items are prohibited in residence halls. You will find a list of these items when you review your housing contract.

Wesleyan dining is provided by Bon Appetit, a national food service provider. Bon Appetit is committed to fresh food, made from scratch and issues of sustainability. In the Usdan University Center is a state-of-the-art marketplace open Monday–Friday for breakfast, lunch, dinner; Saturday and Sunday for brunch and dinner; and late-night dining seven days a week. The marketplace offers a la carte dining (via meal points) and All you Care to Eat (AYCE) meals depending on the meal plan you choose. In addition to a stone pizza oven, a Mongolian grill and international grill, the marketplace showcases deli, kosher and vegan offerings. Bon Appetit also provides food service at a café in the Usdan Center, Summerfields (in the Butterfields), as well as Pi Café and WEShop.

Serving students with life-threatening food allergies, celiac disease, and other dietary conditions is a priority at Wesleyan University. We believe that the ability to dine safely on campus with peers is a significant part of the college experience, and we strive to provide this opportunity for all students. Wesleyan University Dining Services provides a wide variety of high-quality foods in order to meet individual needs and preferences of students, faculty and staff. Dining Services is committed to meeting the needs of students with food allergies, celiac disease and other dietary concerns. It is recommended that students with food allergies or celiac disease contact Accessibility Services to discuss their individual needs.
