CRIME AND PUNISHMENT

Some Ground Rules

- 1. Formal office hours are Mondays, 1:10 p.m. to 4:00 p.m., although my door is generally open when I'm in. A call or email before you walk over is a good idea.
- 2. The readings on this list have been chosen to raise interesting and provocative questions about the philosophy, practice and outcomes of criminal justice in the United States and western Europe. Please read every item on the list, and be prepared each day for discussion in class. Much of the success of the course will depend on your willingness to address hard questions in class and explore your answers in light of the responses of others, so questions, opinions and the free exchange of ideas are strongly encouraged. Class participation, which is not the same thing as agreeing with anyone else or being correct each time you speak, will comprise a significant part of your final grade.
- 3. In addition to regular attendance and participation, course requirements include (1) two 2000-word essays, selected by the student, from the first five Essays whose due dates are indicated on the syllabus, provided that the two are not consecutively numbered; (2) either Essay 6, due on December 8, or participation in moot court sessions during the week of December 11, including a written brief or opinion on the case; and (3) short response papers containing two discussion questions on the day's readings for at least nine of the sixteen class discussions, indicated on the syllabus by asterisks.
- 4. Incompletes are strongly disfavored and will be granted only under conditions of bona fide personal exigency.
