Graduate Liberal Studies Curriculum Fall 2019
(COURSES SUBJECT TO CHANGE)

ARTS

Acting on Camera
Corey Sorenson, visiting assistant professor of film

Miles Davis and John Coltrane: The Lives and Music of Two Jazz Giants
Noah Baerman, Director, Jazz Ensemble (MM Rutgers University School of the Arts)

HUMANITIES

Story and Structure
Anne Greene, University Professor of English

A Nation of Immigrants?
Lauren Silber, assistant professor of the practice in academic writing

MATHEMATICS

(no math course for fall 2019)

SCIENCE

Learning, Memory and Cognition (crosslisted with SOCS)
Noel Garrett, director, Academic Resource Center, Connecticut College (PhD, The New School for Social Research)

Natural History of Autumn
Geoffrey Hammerson, Research Zoologist, NatureServe (PhD, University of Colorado, Boulder)

Applied Data Analysis (crosslisted with SOCS)
Lisa Dierker, professor of psychology

SOCIAL SCIENCES

Reverse Engineering the Research Process (crosslisted with HUMS and SCIE)
Su Epstein, lecturer, American Military University, Online (MALS Wesleyan, MLIS Simmons, PhD, University of Connecticut)

International Organization in the Modern Age
Giulio Gallarotti, professor of government

As of 5/21/2019
Graduate Liberal Studies Curriculum Spring 2020
(COURSES SUBJECT TO CHANGE)

ARTS

Studies in Photographic Portraiture and Self-Portraiture
Marion Belanger, artist photographer (MFA, Yale)

History of Rock and R&B
Eric Charry, professor of music

HUMANITIES

Reading and Writing Memoir
Jeanne Bonner, Italian instructor and Literary Translation Fellow, University of Connecticut (BA Wesleyan, MFA Bennington)

Picture This: Content, Culture, and Social Relationships in Children’s Picture Books
Su Epstein, lecturer, American Military University, Online (MALs Wesleyan, MLIS Simmons, PhD, University of Connecticut)

MATHEMATICS
(no math course for spring 2020)

SCIENCES

Digestive Disease, Nutrition and Culture
Richard Link, Senior Attending Physician, Bridgeport Hospital (MD, New Jersey College of Medicine)

Self-Control and the Will (crosslisted with SOCS)
John Protzko (PhD, New York University)

Molecules to Medicine
Kelly Thayer, assistant professor of the practice in integrative sciences

Note: A limited number of GLS seats have been offered (and approved by the committee) for the following undergraduate course that meets on Tuesday evenings in the spring

SOCIAL SCIENCES

Peace Versus Power: International Relations in the Modern Age
Giulio Gallarotti, professor of government

Death, Dying and the Dead in Medieval Europe
Gary Shaw, professor of history